COURSE DESCRIPTION

The Cook County Symposium on Oral Oncology is a half-day course on the diagnosis, treatment and rehabilitation of the oral and oro-pharyngeal cancer patient. The meeting is geared towards dental and medical providers including oral & maxillofacial surgeons, otolaryngologists, plastic surgeons, radiation and medical oncologists, and primary care providers. This symposium highlights multidisciplinary care and provides an overview and an update on the management of oral cancer and other related topics. The highlight of the program is the keynote address by world renowned Dr. Fu-Chan Wei, who developed many of the reconstructive techniques used today in head & neck cancer patients.

Guest of Honor/ Key Note Speaker:

Fu-Chan Wei is a world-renowned plastic and reconstructive surgeon, and is recognized as one of the most influential and innovative reconstructive surgeons of our time. He has been instrumental in developing many of the techniques used in reconstruction of head & neck cancer patients. He has been credited with the development of the osteoseptocutaneous fibula flap, which revolutionized composite tissue reconstruction. He has additionally pioneered several perforator flaps, including the free style variety. Dr. Wei has trained and influenced more than 1,500 surgeons from all around the world at his very sought-after microsurgery fellowship and residency programs at Chang Gung Memorial Hospital.
